What is the best part of your job?

Being my own boss! Being able to let my imagination run free, with a job that I love. And being able to create shows and digital content that can entertain and inspire people around the world.

Biggest learning moment of your career?

The importance of contracts. Making sure you are covered in all areas of your business, and that you are rewarded correctly for your work.

What is your top tip to success?

To have vision, belief and determination in what you do. Nothing comes easy, so you have to be prepared to study, work hard and be smart in the choices you make.

What does Black history month mean to you?

Remembering and highlighting the achievements of those that came before us and whose shoulders we stand upon. And recognising how much more we still need to achieve as a global community, where we as black people can be respected not only equally, but also independently for all our great strengths and beauty.

Why is being a positive role model important to you?

To inspire others is a wonderful gift, and if being a role model can help just one person achieve their dreams and ambitions then that is a blessing.

What is your greatest achievement?

In business that would be creating the stage musical Thriller Live, which ran in the West End for 11-years and has been seen in 37 countries around the world by over 5-million people.

What advice would you give to your 16year-old Self?

Knowledge and personal growth is everything. We are the key to all the success we need, but to unlock that potential we need to keep learning and developing. Helping others is great, but make sure you look after yourself emotionally and financially.
