What is the best part of your job?

I get to work with some of the most talented people in the world. I learn something new from them every day and even when things are hard, I know I can rely on them to help me. Plus, I get paid to watch football!

Biggest learning moment of your career?

I found out the best leaders aren't the smartest people in the room - they are the ones who bring the smartest people together.

What does Black history month mean to you?

Black History Month is important to me because I get to hear about role models who were not known to me when I was growing up. It gives me an opportunity to hear the stories of incredible people who inspire me to do better and be a role model myself.

What advice would you give to your 16year-old Self?

Geeks rule the world ... embrace your inner geek.

Why is being a positive role model important to you?

There is no more important task in the world than to pass on experience, understanding and compassion to the next generation.

Plus, it's fun - I never fail to be amazed and amused by the brilliant clever funny young people I have met.

What is your top tip to success?

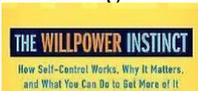

Be relentlessly positive, kind and helpful to everyone you interact with every day of your life. Be the person who smiles at the waiter, who picks up for the cleaner, who is polite to the receptionist.

You can be the smartest person in the room, but you are little use as a human being without kindness. The universe will reward you for that.

What is your greatest achievement?

I haven't achieved great things yet. And I hope I never imagine I do. Be humble and you'll never be disappointed by the size of your achievements.
